

In a world of robots, AI and mass-produced goods from China... we're very happy you decided to buy one of our products which has been handmade with care by real people, right here in the UK.

We have great connections with our manufacturers and having them a hop, skip and a jump away means we've had lots of time in the same room developing the materials, the way the product works and the way it looks when it arrives at your door. We want to ensure that what leaves the factory is exactly what we wanted when we set out on this crazy journey. We love our products and have spent many days and nights testing and adapting so we are confident you will love them too.

So from our garden, to yours, we truly hope you enjoy your product. We really enjoyed making it.

Need help? Get in touch contact@outsidegang.com.